Understanding

_____ Camp Prime Time is operated and maintained by Prime Time, Inc., a non-profit corporation. While Prime Time has made its best efforts to provide a safe and enjoyable facility, it must be understood that the camp is run by volunteers, is situated in a rustic and wilderness area, and participants are encouraged to be as active as they choose to be. Prime Time is not able to ensure or insure against injuries or accidents.

Release

_____ Prime Time requires that, in consideration of the camp being made available for you and your child's enjoyment, Prime Time, Inc. must be released from any liability and held harmless related to any injury to you or your child on the camp property or at nearby facilities such as horseback riding, boating, or fishing.

Agreement

_____ The undersigned, individually and as parent or guardian of his/her minor child(ren) hereby agrees to release and hold harmless Prime Time, Inc., and its officers, directors, and paid and volunteer staff from any and all liability arising from the undersigned, or the undersigned child's participation at Camp Prime Time.

Photographs

_____ The undersigned authorizes Prime Time to photograph or videotape the undersigned or his/her child, and to use any such photograph or videotape for promotional or informational presentations by Prime Time.
